SURROGATE SPOTLIGHT

This month we would like to introduce:

Samantha

I knew I wanted to be a surrogate shortly after my 7 year old son was born. He is an only child and I loved being pregnant. I couldn't have imagined a more fulfilling way to help those deserving couples who longed for a child and help make it a reality for them.

My road to surrogacy was a long one. I had five failed transfers with three separate couples and even though poor embryo quality was to blame, I couldn't help feel guilty that I couldn't help them become parents. One last transfer in March of 2015 was a success and my first surrogate little girl was born to two happy daddies from Germany in November of 2015. We have a very close relationship and I'm so fortunate to have met them!

I matched again with Conceptual Options for my second journey with another set of German dads and once again we had a first transfer success with a little boy born June 2018. His dads are over the moon joyful for his birth! Seeing them hold their son, the look of pure love and emotion in their eyes is overwhelming and I am thankful I could be a part of their birth story.

The ladies at Conceptual Options have made my second journey such a success. I always felt supported each step of the way, through a death in my family during pregnancy, to bed rest support, and finally through a quick delivery and dads rushing to America to meet their son.

Thanks for helping make my surrogacy story a happy and successful one!
